

Johanna Bruckner, Molecular Sex, Video Still, 2020 © Johanna Bruckner

Johanna Bruckner

In the IBB Video Space

5.1. – 31.1.22

Johanna Bruckner's work addresses the relationship between bodies and new technologies. One of her interests is a critical investigation into the increasing economic valorization of our bodies as a result of new technologies and, for example, big data. Another is to explore how technologies interact with our bodies, how we use them as prosthetics and whether we can merge with them to create new, post-human forms of life. The utopian potential this creates and the possibilities for resisting established social structures are key themes in her videos. She draws here on theoretical work by the American physicist and philosopher Karen Barad, who argues that matter is "queer" at the molecular level and hence permanently performative. Bruckner similarly depicts bodies as queer, i.e. as fluid matter that is constantly transforming, which means that they can never be ingested or exploited in their entirety.

In "Atmospheric Drafts of Intimacy" (2020, 29 min.) gaseous substances escape from the Earth and form so-called extracorporeal structures in space: bodies dissolve and blend into their surroundings.

"Molecular Sex" (2020, 18 min.) depicts a networked world where people, animals, technology, sex and the atmosphere are entangled. The work centres on a fictional sexbot that can mutate effortlessly from one state to another. Bruckner sees this work as a speculative proposal for imagining new kinds of subjectivity and sexuality and thinking about the potential to exist without binary structures.

The filmmaker

Johanna Bruckner was born in Vienna (Austria) in 1984. She studied fine art, cultural studies and social anthropology in Vienna, Berlin, New York, Stockholm and Hamburg. Her work has been shown at, for example, the Schirn Kunsthalle in Frankfurt, the 57th Venice Biennale, the Haus der Kulturen der Welt in Berlin, the Deichtorhallen in Hamburg and the CAC Centre d'Art Contemporain in Geneva.

IBB Video Space

The IBB Video Space is screening artists who work with time-based media. The programme, which changes every month, features not only established names in contemporary video art but also up-and-coming artists rarely seen in museums to date. For these, the Berlinische Galerie seeks to facilitate an institutional début.

Each month brings a new encounter with work that raises questions about the medium and about social or political issues. Importance is attached to including marginalised perspectives and to shedding light on the impact of power structures.

More video works online:
bg.berlin/virtual-video-space

Preview

30.3. - 25.4. Ginan Seidl

This project has been facilitated by Investitionsbank Berlin (IBB).

Press images

berlinischegalerie.de/en/press-release/johanna-bruckner

Online tickets

bg.berlin/en/online-tickets

Social Media

#johannabruckner
#videoartBG
#berlinischegalerie

Press Berlinische Galerie

Ulrike Andres
Head of Communication and Education
Tel +49 (0)30 78 902 829
andres@berlinischegalerie.de

Contact:
Julia Lennemann
Communication
Tel +49 (0)30 78 902 831
lennemann@berlinischegalerie.de

Berlinische Galerie
Berlin's Museum of Modern Art,
Photography and Architecture
Alte Jakobstraße 124–128
10969 Berlin
Tel +49 (0)30 78 902 600
berlinischegalerie.de

Admission
10 €, concessions 6 € (prices may vary during temporary exhibitions)

Berlin's Museum Sunday
On the first Sunday of every month
free admission

Wed–Mon 10 am–6 pm
Tue closed